COMPANY

Dear EMPLOYER,

I am interested in being your new JOB TITLE!. I have been developing and maintaining web site and application front- and back-ends for several years now. I have a proven record of working both independently and with a team of other developers (so long as git or some other source control is in place).

I've had success working within a range of environments, from small dev shop, to large and hectic agency, to that same large but less hectic agency operating under a more agile-like ideal. I come from a solid PHP/jQuery background and I've gained much experience with responsive, modular SASS working with MasterCard, Purdue Pharma, and the PGA. I love learning and trying new things.

Please find attached my resume, which documents my educational and professional experience. You can find samples of my work at my website (www.steve-steele.com). I look forward to hearing from you.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Steve Steele
